Process in 5 steps

Types of processes

1) How something is made a

The pictures below show how tea is produced. They also illustrate the process of making a cup of tea. Summarize the information by selecting and reporting the main features.

Types of processes

2) How something works

The diagram below shows how solar panels can be used to provide electricity for domestic use.

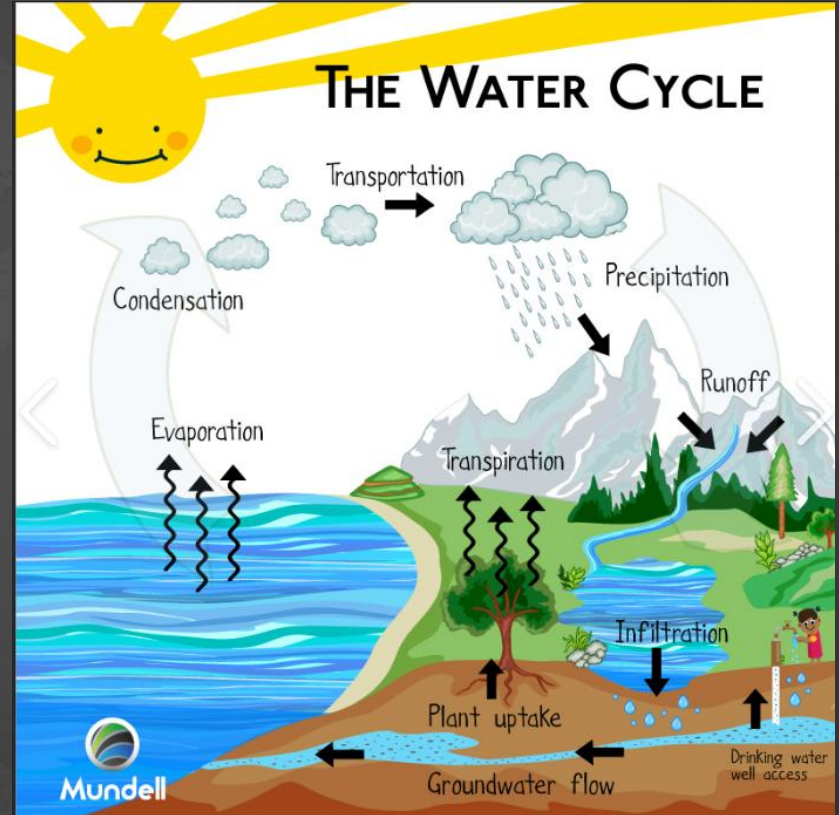

Types of processes

3) The life-cycle of an animal or insect

Types of processes

4) Natural cycles

Step 1: The usage of Present Simple in Passive

S + V + O

O + am\is\are + V_{3\ed}

1 Read these pairs of sentences. Which in each pair sounds more natural? Why?

- 1 a A lorry driver delivers boxes of tea to supermarkets
b Boxes of tea are delivered to supermarkets by lorry.
- 2 a The tea leaves are picked and put into boxes.
b A farm worker picks the tea leaves and puts them in boxes.

USE IT FOR:

1) Processes where who does the action is not important:

The tea leaves are picked

2) The stages of producing something

The tea is dried , and then packed into boxes

BUT!

Do not use it for natural processes!:

The sun shines, and the plants grow.

Step 2: Simple Sequencers

The first stage is...	Next...	The last stage is...
First of all	Then	Finally
The first step is	Subsequently	The last step is that
To begin with	After that
Initially	At this point
	The next step is that and then after which

Step 3: Advanced joining

	1 st stage	2 nd stage
When	+ have\has + been + V3\ed , _____
Once
After

The tea is packed into boxes, and then the boxes are loaded onto a lorry =

Once the tea has been packed into boxes, the boxes are then loaded onto a lorry.

Step 3: Advanced joining

Linking with after + -ing

Two stages can also be linked with after + the -ing form of the verb:

The boxes of tea are taken to supermarkets and then they are sold to customers. →

After being taken to supermarkets, the boxes of tea are then sold to customers.

NOTE!

After + fixing, I gave my car to my brother as a gift.

After + being fixed, my car started working better.

Step 4: Giving extra information

Using relative clauses, in order to, commenting etc.

1 Match the stages (1–4) to the corresponding extra details (a–d).

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 The boxes of tea are delivered to supermarkets, | a which gives them extra flavour. |
| 2 The sun shines, | b where they are put on the shelves to be sold. |
| 3 Salt and sugar are added to the tomatoes, | c in order to be made into sugar for cooking. |
| 4 The sugar cane is taken to a factory, | d which helps the plants to grow. |

Step 5 : Introduction + Mini-overview

1) Introduce the process

As in other types of Task 1 question, in the introduction to a process, you need to rewrite the question in your own words. There are several ways in which you can do this.

- The pictures illustrate how tea is produced.
- The pictures show the steps involved in making tea.
- The diagram highlights the process by which tea is produced.

2) Describe the stages (in general)

You can also add a 'mini-overview' sentence to the introduction to give a short summary of the process. This can mean describing the:

- number of stages, and listing the first and last stages;
- different sections of the process (e.g. producing tea/making a cup of tea).

Step 5 : Introduction + Mini-overview

Together:

drinking from planting steps to

There are eighteen 1 in the process, 2 3 the tea seeds in the ground 4 5 a nice cup of tea.

The pictures below show how tea is produced. They also illustrate the process of making a cup of tea. Summarize the information by selecting and reporting the main features.

And all together:

These pictures illustrate how tea is produced, and how a cup of tea is made. There are 18 stages in the diagram, from sowing the tea seeds in India and China, to enjoying a cup of tea at home.

The first step is that the tea seeds are sown, and then the sun shines, which causes the seeds to grow into plants. Once the plants have grown sufficiently, the leaves are then picked by the farmer and put into baskets. After the picking stage, the tea leaves are spread out in the sun to be dried. The tea leaves are packed into boxes and then they are loaded onto lorries, which take the boxes of tea to supermarkets.

In order to make a cup of tea, first of all you buy a box of tea and take it home. Next, you fill the kettle with water and put it on the stove to boil. Meanwhile, you put a tea bag in a cup, and once the kettle has boiled, the water is poured into the cup. Having been left in the cup for two minutes, the tea bag is then removed, and the tea is now ready to drink. At this point, milk and sugar can be added. The final step is that you drink a nice cup of hot tea.
